Subject: Application for Service Desk Technician - Porto

Dear Inetum Hiring Team,

I am writing to apply for the Service Desk Technician position in Porto. Inetum's scale, client proximity and focus on practical digital services appeal to me because this role combines structured incident management with direct user support and service continuity.

At NewCoffee, I provided first-line technical support to users across different departments and company locations. I diagnosed and resolved incidents involving hardware, software, user accounts, access permissions, printing, connectivity and business applications, while logging, monitoring and following support requests through to resolution.

I prepared and maintained Windows desktops and laptops, printers, mobile devices and peripherals. I also created and managed accounts, groups and permissions through Active Directory, supported VPN and DHCP connectivity issues, and collaborated with external IT providers when an incident required escalation or specialist intervention.

My previous support experience at Staples further developed my customer-facing troubleshooting skills. I learned to clarify the real problem, explain technical steps to non-technical users and remain calm, organised and solution-focused throughout the interaction.

I also developed an internal ITSM platform for managing tickets, assets, users, departments and operational indicators. This gave me a broader understanding of ticket categorisation, prioritisation, accurate documentation and the importance of reliable records for efficient support. I take ownership of issues, communicate progress clearly and escalate with the relevant diagnostic information when necessary.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my service desk experience, methodical approach and user-oriented communication could contribute to Inetum and its clients.

Kind regards,

Miguel Magalhães
